

1. As a purchasing agent, I only focus on buying houses and apartments. That is in your advantage.

Negotiating effectively with the purchase of your dream home is essential

You found the dream house. Then it's time to negotiate. Do you do that yourself or do you leave it to me, with the further legal and architectural guidance, an independent purchase broker and negotiation specialist?

Strong together

With me at your side, you are stronger in dealing with the sales broker. The sales broker wants to sell a home for as much money as possible. The higher the selling price, the higher his remuneration. By letting me negotiate for you, you pay a lower price for the house, and the buying process runs smoothly.

I save you money, time and worries.

No conflict of interests

Most brokers carry out varying roles. They are one-moment a sales broker and the other time buying broker. Often there are double interests: the importance of making a good purchase for you and the importance of keeping the sales broker a friend. A week later their roles can be reversed.

I do not sell homes and am independent.

I have one interest: the importance of you, the buyer.

Result

Independently and professionally I negotiate with the sales broker for the lowest price for your home. The lower the purchase price, the more you save.

My remuneration depends on the difference between the asking price and the final purchase price. This way you can be sure that I will make every effort to realise the lowest possible purchase price for you. I make sure that you make a good purchasing decision and become happy with perhaps the most important purchase in your life.

2. APPROACH

Targeted purchase guidance

HOW DO I HELP YOU?

You have done the first viewing yourself and are in love with a house or apartment.

You are well aware of your financial situation and the financing possibilities.

Then we can work together with the targeted purchase support.

1. We do the (critical) viewing of the house together and assess the quality of the architectural state, level of completion and maintenance.
2. I advise on the correct value of the property, and we discuss the presentation of the bid and the purchase conditions.
3. I negotiate with the sales agent to the lowest price and discuss the date of transfer, resolute conditions, construction inspection and takeover of movable property. If applicable, I negotiate the No Risk Clause if your current owner-occupied home has not yet been sold.

4. After agreement on the purchase price, two inspections will take place if necessary. For this, we involve two experts.
 - 4.1 An architectural inspection or visible inspection by an architectural expert. This fulfils the obligation to investigate, and the structural quality and state of maintenance of the home and (hidden) defects are examined. I compare architectural experts and advise which one suits you best.
 - 4.2 A local valuer, who knows the local housing market very well, provides a validated valuation report. I compare local appraisers and advise which suits you best.
5. I take care of the legal control of the purchase agreement. After drawing up the purchase agreement, you as a buyer have three days in which you may opt out of the sale. I compare notaries and advise which suits you best.
6. Final inspection and transfer. Before we go to the notary, we do the final inspection together with the seller and his broker. We check whether the property is still in the same condition as when you bought it.

3. Research obligation

As an extra service, I guide you to fulfil your research requirement.

The obligation to investigate means that you as a buyer must investigate both the architectural and the legal condition of the home.

We call in an architectural expert for research into the structural condition of the home. With this, you know well what you are buying, and you can demonstrate that you have met the obligation to investigate.

The architectural expert draws up a report based on a visual inspection. The report also states which costs you can expect in the short term (within one year) and longer term (1 - 5 years). The test report plays a role in any new negotiations on the purchase price and can be important if you discover hidden defects after the transfer of the house for which you want to hold the seller liable.

We also examine the legal status of the home. Are there servitudes, qualitative obligations, sales regulatory provisions, is there a chain clause, what does the zoning plan say, does the municipality have pre-emptive rights, is there soil contamination, is there a leasehold?

Notification obligation of the seller

The buyer's responsibility to disclose is contrary to the buyer's obligation to investigate.

The seller is legally obliged to provide all the information that you request. The duty of disclosure also means that the seller must tell you if the property has defects that are not visible but of which he knows they are there; the so-called hidden defects.

In summary

As a buyer, you are obliged to ask questions and do further research. I help you with this. The seller is obliged to answer everything in good conscience and to report hidden defects - including those not apparent from the architectural research.

4. Your benefit determines my performance reward

The better I negotiate, the less you pay for the property and the higher my remuneration. With specific purchase guidance, where you have done the first viewing yourself, my brokerage consists of two parts.

1. A one-off starting fee of € 300 that you pay at the start of the service.
2. A performance rate that is based on the negotiation result and that is paid at the end of the purchase process. I am rewarded for achievement. This gives you the certainty that I am negotiating the lowest price. This is in contrast to a traditional broker who usually receives a commission of 1.5% on the purchase price. For him, the following applies: the higher the purchase price, the higher the brokerage fee.

Your investment

The performance rate is 10% of the amount that I can negotiate from the asking price. The more you pay off the asking price, the more you save and the higher my remuneration. This aligns the interests of you and me.

If no purchase is made, you do not pay a performance fee.

Example of distinctive negotiation with another brokerage

A traditional broker knows how to reduce the asking price from € 289.000 by € 12.000 to € 277.000 and charges 1,5% brokerage plus 21% VAT.

His brokerage fee is: $€ 277.000 \times 1,5\% = € 4.155 + \text{VAT} = € 5.027$

You earn: $€ 12.000 - € 5.027 = € 6.973$

Uw Koopmakelaar negotiates more effectively and brings down the asking price of € 289.000 with € 20.000 down to the purchase price of € 269.000.

My reward is: the starting rate of € 300 plus 10% performance rate of € 20.000 = € 2.000

Summed up is my brokerage € 300 + € 2.000 + VAT is € 2.783

You earn $€ 20.000 - € 2.783 = € 17.217$

No negotiation result

If nothing is negotiated and you want to purchase the property for the asking price, then you are free to buy the property without using my further services. You only pay the one-off starting fee of € 300.

If you want to continue to use my services, even though you pay the asking price, I will guide you further to the construction and legal investigation obligation, the valuation, the control of the purchase agreement, the final inspection and the notary.

The minimum brokerage fee for targeted purchase guidance is the starting rate of € 300 plus the minimum performance rate of € 1.200 together is € 1.500.

Full-service purchase guidance – including search

With full-service purchase guidance, I will search for a suitable home from your living requirements and guide you through every step of the purchase process, even during the first viewing (s).

The brokerage fee for full-service purchase support with search service is the starting rate of € 500 plus the performance rate of 10% of the amount for which the house is purchased lower than the asking price.

The minimum brokerage fee for full-service purchase guidance is the starting rate of € 500 plus the minimum performance rate of € 1.500 is € 2.000 together.

I can also be of excellent service to you when buying a new build house and a starting price home.

On the current housing market, bidding and enrolling from the asking price is no longer an exception. It is essential that I work for you on the goodwill factor and that bids are made that are real and not too high. That way you save money.

All amounts are exclusive of 21% VAT.

5. Tips for the first viewing

1. Investigate your financial possibilities first; own money, mortgage, family money
2. What demands do you make of the house and what is important
3. Pay attention to atmosphere and appearance; the house feels good
4. Look not only at how the home is now but also at what you can make of it
5. Look at the location of the house, the garden, the living space, the kitchen and the bathroom, sun positions
6. Explore the living environment in the evening and at the weekend
7. Walk neutrally and objectively through the house
8. Do not be fooled in a tight housing market, be patient, but make sure you are 'financially ready' for a possible quick purchase
9. In love with a home or apartment? Then contact Uw Koopmakelaar who provides a competitive price
10. I increase the goodwill factor and expand the opportunity
11. I save you money, time and worries
